Overview

Aachen is a compact university city on the border with the Netherlands and Belgium. It was the favourite residence of Charlemagne, and its cathedral is one of the oldest and most important in Europe. The old town is small, walkable and full of history.

The city suits a short trip of one or two nights. It works well for history fans, for people who like spa baths and for travellers who want to see three countries in one day. Students from the large technical university keep the centre lively.

When to visit

Late spring to early autumn is the best time to visit. Summers are mild, and rain is possible in every month. Winters are cold and grey.

The biggest annual event is the CHIO, a major international horse show. It takes place each summer on the Soers grounds north of the centre. Book rooms early for those days.

The Christmas market is also popular. It runs from late November to just before Christmas.

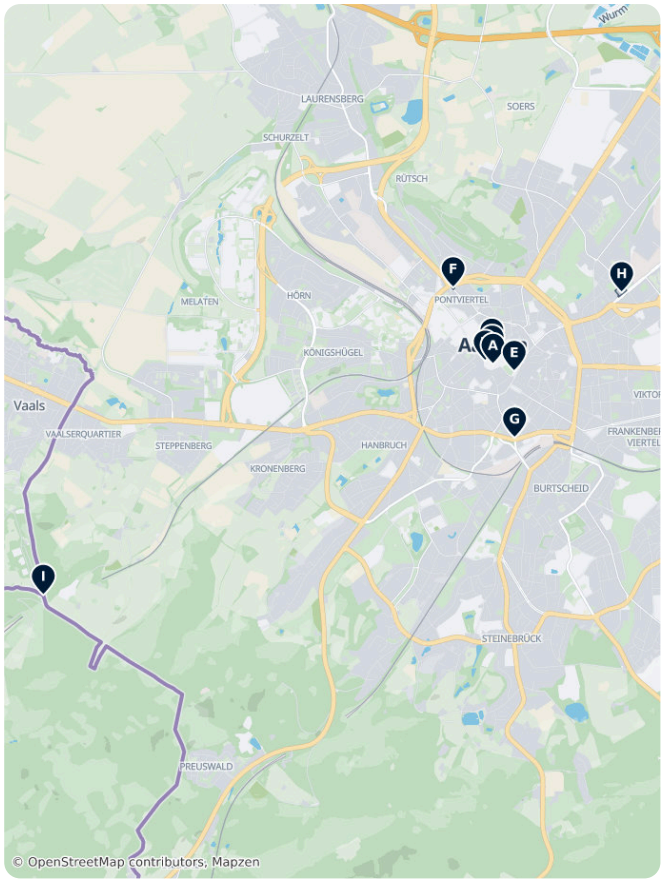
Top sights



- A Aachener Dom is the main reason to come. Charlemagne began the Palatine Chapel around 796, and it became a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1978. He is buried here, and German kings were crowned in the cathedral for centuries.
- B Domschatzkammer is next to the cathedral. It holds precious medieval objects, including the Cross of Lothair and a bust of Charlemagne.
- C Aachener Rathaus dates from the 14th century. Inside, the coronation hall has large paintings of Charlemagne's life.
- D Katschhof is the open square between the cathedral and the town hall. It is the centre of the old town.
- E Elisenbrunnen is a neoclassical hall over a hot spring, a short walk from the cathedral. It is the symbol of Aachen's spa tradition.
- F Ponttor and G Marschiertor are two surviving medieval city gates. The Marschiertor is close to the main station.
- H Ludwig Forum für Internationale Kunst shows modern and contemporary art in a former umbrella factory.
- I Dreiländereck is where Germany, the Netherlands and Belgium meet. It is about 6 km from the centre, near the hill Vaalserberg, the highest point of the mainland Netherlands.

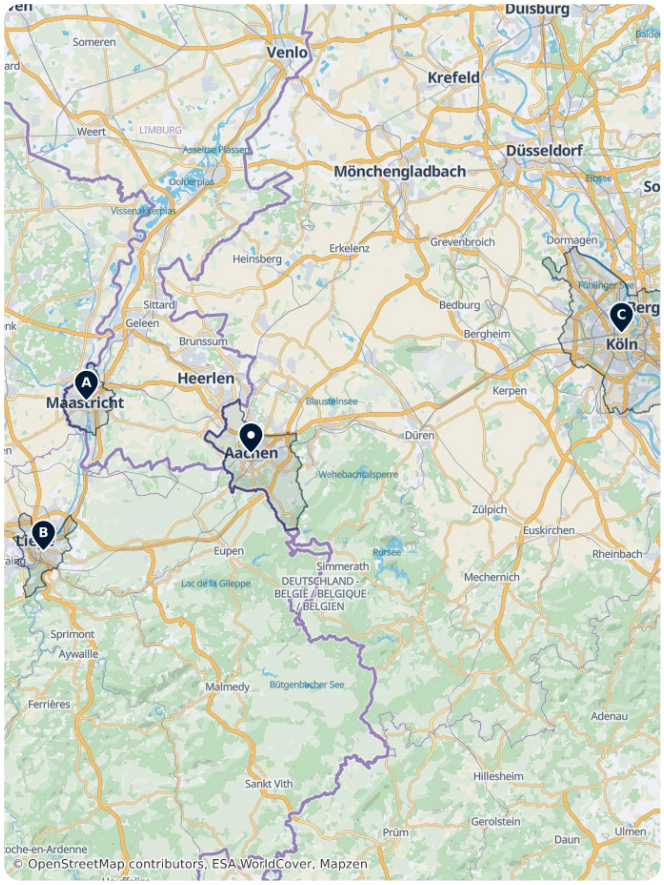
What to experience

- Taste the warm mineral water at Elisenbrunnen. It flows from taps in the hall and smells of sulphur.
- Relax in the hot-spring pools at Carolus Thermen, the city's thermal spa. The water comes from Aachen's natural springs.
- Visit the Christmas market on and around the Katschhof. It runs from late November to just before Christmas.
- Watch the CHIO horse show in summer at the Soers grounds.

Day trips

Aachen is a good base for day trips across the border. Places are listed from closest to farthest.

- A Maastricht is in the Netherlands, about 1 hour away by direct train. It has a lively old centre with squares, cafes and river views.
- Monschau is a small half-timbered town in the Eifel hills. It is about 40 minutes away by car. Narrow lanes and old houses make it popular at Christmas time.
- B Liège is in Belgium, about 30 to 60 minutes away by train. It is a big, lively city with a striking modern train station.
- C Cologne is about 1 hour away by train. Its huge Gothic cathedral and Rhine riverside are worth a day.



Getting there

- By air: The main airports are Düsseldorf (DUS, about 90 km away) and Cologne Bonn (CGN, about 90 km away). From both, take a train to Aachen with one change. Plan about 1.5 hours. Maastricht Aachen Airport is only 27 km away but has few scheduled flights. Brussels Airport (BRU) is about 140 km away.
- By train: Aachen Hauptbahnhof has fast links to Cologne, Düsseldorf, Liège and Brussels. ICE and Eurostar trains stop here. The RE 1 runs to Cologne and Düsseldorf. Book on Deutsche Bahn.
- To Maastricht and Liège: Regional trains run directly to Maastricht and Liège.

Getting around

- Public transit: Aachen has a city bus network run by ASEAG. There are no trams. Buy tickets in the movA app or at ticket machines. Check the official site for fares and routes: ASEAG.
- Across the border: A regional day ticket called the Euregioticket covers buses and trains in Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands.
- On foot and by bike: The old town is small and mostly pedestrian. Most sights are within 15 minutes on foot. Cycling is possible, but some streets are hilly.

Getting around on foot & by bike

WALKABILITY

High

The old town is compact and mostly pedestrian, so most sights are a short walk apart.

CYCLING INFRASTRUCTURE

Moderate

Cycling works well, but some streets are hilly.

Driving

- Is a car worth it?: Not for the city. The old town is small, and buses and trains are easy. A car helps only for the countryside around Monschau.
- Parking: Use a car park near the centre or one of the Park+Ride lots at the edge.
- Restrictions: Check the current low-emission zone rules before you drive in.

Food & drink

The famous local food is Aachener Printen. These are hard, spiced gingerbread biscuits. Shops near the cathedral sell them in many shapes, and they are popular as gifts. Another local sweet is Reisfladen, a rice tart.

For a meal, go to the streets around the Markt and the town hall. Pontstraße is the main street for student pubs, cafes and cheap food in the evening.

What to eat & drink

LUNCH

Doner Kebab · Döner Kebab
A sandwich of roasted meat, salad, and sauce in flatbread, invented by Turkish immigrants in Berlin and now a national staple.

DINNER

Schnitzel
A thin, breaded and fried cutlet, usually pork, served with potatoes or fries and a lemon wedge.

Sauerbraten
A pot roast marinated for days in vinegar and spices before slow cooking, served with red cabbage and dumplings.

SNACKS & STREET FOOD

Bratwurst
A grilled or fried pork sausage, often served in a bread roll with mustard, sold at stands nationwide.

Currywurst
Sliced sausage topped with curry-spiced ketchup, a Berlin invention now popular across the country.

Pretzel · Brezel
A large, chewy salted bread pretzel, especially common in Bavaria, often eaten with butter or cheese.

SWEETS & DESSERTS

Black Forest Cake · Schwarzwälder Kirschtorte
A layered chocolate sponge cake with cherries, cherry liqueur, and whipped cream.

DRINKS

Beer · Bier
Germany brews hundreds of regional styles, from Bavarian Weissbier to Cologne's Kölsch, each tied to its home city.

Gluhwein · Glühwein
Mulled, spiced red wine served hot, a staple of winter and Christmas markets.

Apfelschorle
Apple juice mixed with sparkling water, the everyday non-alcoholic drink of choice.

Safety & health

Aachen is safe for tourists. Violent crime against visitors is rare.

- Watch for pickpockets in crowded places such as the station, shopping streets and the Christmas market.
- Bring valuables with you when you leave a parked car.
- Tap water is safe to drink.

History

Warm springs drew the Romans here, and they built bath houses around the 1st century AD. Charlemagne later made Aachen his main residence. He built the Palatine Chapel, now the core of Aachener Dom, and was buried there in 814.

German kings were crowned in Aachen from 936 until 1531. Aachener Rathaus stands on the site of Charlemagne's old palace. Major peace treaties were also signed in the city, in 1668 and 1748.

Aachen was the first German city captured by the Western Allies, in October 1944. Much of the centre was rebuilt after the war. Since 1950 the city has awarded the Charlemagne Prize for service to European unity.

Aachen Essentials

Aachen serves as a living monument to Charlemagne's empire, centered around the 8th-century UNESCO World Heritage Cathedral and the Gothic Town Hall. This selection highlights the city's thermal legacy at the Neoclassical Elisenbrunnen and explores its medieval fortifications through the preserved Ponttor and Marschiertor gates. From the historic marketplace to the Treasury's religious relics, these landmarks trace Aachen's evolution from an imperial capital to a renowned spa destination and cultural hub.

Architectural Heritage of Aachen

Aachen's architectural landscape reflects its status as the imperial seat of Charlemagne. This collection features the UNESCO-listed Aachen Cathedral, a masterpiece of Carolingian and Gothic design, alongside the 14th-century Gothic Town Hall built on the foundations of the Palatine hall. The list highlights surviving medieval fortifications like the Marschiertor and Ponttor, the Neoclassical Elisenbrunnen pavilion, and the Art Nouveau Elisabethhalle. From the 13th-century roots of the Grashaus to the Baroque interior of Theresien Church, these landmarks document over a millennium of European history.

Aachen Museums & Heritage

Aachen’s imperial heritage is anchored by its UNESCO-listed cathedral, one of Europe’s oldest, and its adjacent treasury housing Carolingian liturgical masterpieces. The city's history is reflected in the Gothic Town Hall, built on the foundations of Charlemagne’s palace, and the massive 14th-century city gates, Marschiertor and Ponttor. This collection also highlights Aachen's thermal culture through the Neoclassical Elisenbrunnen and the Art Nouveau Elisabethhalle, alongside significant Romanesque and Neo-Gothic ecclesiastical sites.
