TRAVEL GUIDE

Tripomatic

Overview

A Coruña is a port city on a peninsula in Galicia, in northwest Spain. It is known for the Tower of Hercules, a Roman lighthouse that is still in use, and for the glazed balconies along its harbor.

The city has beaches, a long seafront promenade and very good seafood. It suits one or two days of sights and walks by the sea, and it is a short trip from Santiago de Compostela.

When to visit

Summer is the best season, with mild days and the best chance of sun, but the Atlantic can bring rain at any time. Spring and early autumn are also pleasant. Winter is mild and wet.

On the night of 23 June, the San Juan festival fills the city beaches with bonfires.

What to experience

- Walk or cycle the seafront promenade around the peninsula to the Tower of Hercules, ideally at sunset.
- Join the San Juan night on 23 June, with bonfires and picnics on Riazor and Orzán beaches.

Day trips

- A Santiago de Compostela (about 70 km, 40 minutes by train): a pilgrimage city with a famous cathedral.
- Betanzos (about 25 km, 25 minutes by car): a medieval town known for its omelette.
- B Fisterra (about 120 km, 2 hours by car): a cape on the Costa da Morte, once seen as the end of the world.
- C Vigo (about 150 km, 1.5 hours by train): Galicia's largest city.

Where to explore

Other places in Galicia:

- Pilgrimage city: Santiago de Compostela.
- Coast: Fisterra and Vigo.

Getting there

- By air: A Coruña airport (LCG) is about 10 km south of the center and has domestic and some European flights. Santiago airport (SCQ) is about 70 km away.
- By train: Trains arrive from Madrid, Santiago and Vigo. Book on Renfe.
- By bus: Coaches link A Coruña with Santiago, Vigo and Madrid.

Getting around

- On foot: The center is compact, and a long seafront path links the beaches and the Tower of Hercules.
- Cycling: Cycling along the seafront is popular, and the city is fairly flat.

Getting around on foot & by bike

WALKABILITY

High

The center is compact, and a long seafront path links the main sights.

CYCLING INFRASTRUCTURE

Moderate

The seafront path is good for cycling, and the city is fairly flat.

Driving

- Is a car worth it?: Not for the center. A car helps for the Costa da Morte and the villages.
- Parking: Use an underground car park near the center, because street parking is limited.
- Restrictions: Some streets in the old town are closed to normal traffic.

Food & drink

A Coruña is known for seafood. Try pulpo á feira (boiled octopus with paprika and olive oil), empanada, pimientos de Padrón (small green peppers) and fresh shellfish. A tortilla betanceira is a soft potato omelette from nearby Betanzos. Albariño is the local white wine.

The streets near Plaza de María Pita and the old town have many seafood restaurants.

What to eat & drink

BREAKFAST

Churros · Churros con Chocolate
Fried dough sticks served with a thick, dark hot chocolate for dipping — a classic Spanish breakfast or late-night snack.

LUNCH

Paella Valenciana
A saffron-scented rice dish cooked in a wide, shallow pan. The traditional Valencian version uses chicken, rabbit, and green beans — best eaten at midday.

Gazpacho
A cold, blended soup of raw tomatoes, cucumber, pepper, garlic, olive oil, and vinegar, originally from Andalusia. Served as a drink or a starter, especially in summer.

DINNER

Pulpo a la Gallega
Boiled octopus sliced onto a wooden board and dressed with olive oil, coarse salt, and smoked paprika — a signature dish of Galicia.

SNACKS & STREET FOOD

Jamón Ibérico
Dry-cured ham from acorn-fed Iberian pigs, sliced paper-thin and eaten on its own or with bread. The finest grade, jamón ibérico de bellota, is one of Spain's most prized products.

Tortilla Española
A thick potato and egg omelette, served warm or at room temperature, found in virtually every bar in Spain. Often eaten as a tapa or a quick meal.

Patatas Bravas
Fried potato chunks served with a spicy tomato sauce or aioli — one of the most common tapas across the country.

Pintxos
Small snacks anchored to slices of bread with a toothpick, the Basque Country's answer to tapas. Found in bar counters across San Sebastián and Bilbao, often with elaborate toppings.

Croquetas
Crispy breaded cylinders with a creamy béchamel filling, typically made with jamón, bacalà (salt cod), or mushrooms.

DRINKS

Rioja Wine · Vino de Rioja

Spain's best-known wine region produces full-bodied reds from Tempranillo grapes, aged in oak. The crianza, reserva, and gran reserva labels indicate increasing age and complexity.

Safety & health

A Coruña is a safe city. Strong waves and currents make some ocean beaches dangerous, so swim only where there are lifeguards. Bring a waterproof jacket, because rain is common.

History

A Coruña was a port in Roman times, and the Tower of Hercules dates from that period. The tower was restored in the 18th century.

The city grew in the Middle Ages as a harbor for trade and shipping. In 1588 ships of the Spanish Armada sailed from here. In the 19th century the glazed balconies of the Marina became the city's trademark.
