TRAVEL GUIDE

Overview

Estonia is a small Baltic country known for its well-preserved medieval old town in Tallinn, dense forests, and a famously advanced digital society — most public services here can be done entirely online. It borders the Baltic Sea, Latvia, and Russia, and includes over 2,000 islands, the largest being Saaremaa and Hiiumaa.

Estonia suits travelers interested in history, nature, and design. It works well as a short city break, or combined with a wider Baltic trip. Summers are short and bright with very long daylight hours; winters are cold, dark, and snowy.

Money & payments

Estonia uses the euro, as a member of the eurozone.

Cards widely accepted

Estonia is one of the most cashless societies in Europe — card and phone payment work almost everywhere, including small cafés, markets, and public transport. Carrying cash is rarely necessary, even in small towns.

Typical costs

Rough prices in touristic areas, per person

Hotel (double room, per night) mid-range hotel, room for two per night	60 – 120 € $67 – $135
Dinner (mid-range restaurant) mid-range restaurant, one person, no drinks	15 – 25 € $17 – $28
Inexpensive meal casual eatery or lunch special, one person	8 – 12 € $9 – $13
Local beer 0.5L draught	3.5 – 5 € $4 – $6
Coffee espresso or cappuccino in a café	2.5 – 3.5 € $3 – $4
Water 0.5L, shop	1 – 2 € $1 – $2
Transit ticket single, Tallinn	1.5 – 2 € $2 – $2
Taxi (per km) per km	0.7 – 1 € $1 – $1

Tipping

Tipping is not required in Estonia, since a tip may not legally be added to the bill and service staff are paid a standard wage. Rounding up the bill or adding around 10% for good service in a restaurant is common and appreciated, especially in Tallinn's more tourist-facing restaurants, but locals often just round up.

Restaurant round up or add ~10% for good service	Optional
Taxi round up the fare	Optional

Electricity

Estonia uses Type C and Type F plugs (the standard two-round-pin sockets used across most of continental Europe) at 230 V / 50 Hz.

Type F

230 V · 50 Hz

Language

Estonian is the official language and is unrelated to its Latvian or Russian neighbors' languages — it belongs to the Finnic language family, closely related to Finnish. English is widely spoken in Tallinn and among younger people nationwide; Russian is also common, especially in the northeast.

Staying connected

Prepaid SIM and eSIM plans from Telia, Elisa, or Tele2 are easy to buy at the airport or phone shops. As one of the most digitally connected countries in the world, mobile coverage and free public Wi-Fi are strong even outside major cities.

Safety & emergencies

Estonia is a very safe country for tourists, with low rates of violent crime. The main risks are minor: pickpocketing in busy tourist areas of Tallinn's Old Town, and icy pavements in winter. Online scams and phishing attempts are worth being alert to, given how much daily life runs through digital services.

Emergency numbers

GENERAL EMERGENCY	POLICE	AMBULANCE	FIRE BRIGADE
112	112	112	112

Health

Tap water is safe to drink throughout the country. Pharmacies (apteek) are common in towns and cities, with at least one open late in most larger towns. No special vaccinations are required for entry.

Visas & entry

Estonia is part of the Schengen Area. Citizens of the EU/EEA, the United States, Canada, Australia, and many other countries can enter for tourism without a visa for stays of up to 90 days within a 180-day period. Travelers from countries without a visa-waiver agreement need a Schengen visa, applied for through an Estonian embassy or consulate before travel.

Visa and entry requirements change frequently. Verify current requirements with the official immigration authority or your country's embassy before travel.

Etiquette

Estonians tend to be reserved with strangers at first, and personal space is valued; this is a cultural norm, not unfriendliness. Shoes are almost always removed when entering someone's home. Estonians take saunas seriously as a regular part of life, not just a spa treat, and a traditional sauna is often taken without swimwear among people of the same sex.

Holidays & opening hours

Public holidays can affect opening hours in smaller towns more than in Tallinn. Midsummer (Jaanipäev), in late June, is one of the most widely celebrated holidays, with many businesses closing as people head to the countryside.

Getting around

- By train: Elron operates modern trains connecting Tallinn with Tartu and other main towns; book tickets on Elron's official website.
- By bus: Long-distance coaches reach almost every town and are often faster than trains for cross-country routes.
- By ferry: Regular ferries connect the mainland with the islands of Saaremaa and Hiiumaa, and also link Tallinn with Helsinki across the Gulf of Finland.
- In Tallinn: The Old Town is compact and walkable; trams and buses cover the rest of the city well.

Driving

- Winter tires: Mandatory from December 1 to March 1; studded tires are allowed from October 15 to March 31 under normal conditions, sometimes extended to April 30 in poor weather years, with a lower speed limit for vehicles using them.
- Speed limits: 50 km/h in towns, 90 km/h on rural roads, up to 110 km/h on some divided highways in summer.
- Headlights: Must be on at all times, day and night, year-round.
- Rural roads: Some minor roads are unpaved gravel, especially outside the main highways; reduce speed accordingly.
- Fuel: Stations are self-service, with card payment standard at the pump.

Estonia has no motorway tolls or vignettes; all roads are free to use.

Food & drink

Rye bread (leib) is a staple at almost every meal, alongside potatoes, pork, and fish, especially herring. Black bread with butter and cheese is a common breakfast or snack, and hearty soups are popular through the colder months.

Estonia has a strong café culture, with pastries and dark rye-based desserts common alongside coffee. Kama, a traditional mix of roasted ground grains blended into yogurt or buttermilk, is a distinctive local specialty. Craft beer and cider have grown quickly in recent years alongside more traditional drinks.

What to eat & drink

BREAKFAST

Kama
A roasted grain-and-pea flour mix stirred into kefir or milk, a traditional Estonian breakfast or dessert.

DINNER

Blood Sausage · Verivorst
Sausage made with barley and pork blood, a traditional Christmas dish now eaten year-round.

Sauerkraut Stew · Mulgikapsad
A hearty stew of sauerkraut and pork, a South Estonian specialty.

SNACKS & STREET FOOD

Black Bread · Leib
Dense, dark rye bread that anchors most Estonian meals, often eaten with butter or garlic.

Sprats · Kilu
Small Baltic Sea fish, salted or smoked, typically served on dark bread.

SWEETS & DESSERTS

Curd Snack · Kohuke
A chocolate-coated sweet curd cheese bar, a beloved everyday snack found in every corner shop.

DRINKS

Vana Tallinn
A sweet, spiced rum-based liqueur and Estonia's best-known export spirit.

Craft Beer · Õlu
Estonia has a strong small-brewery scene, especially on the island of Saaremaa.

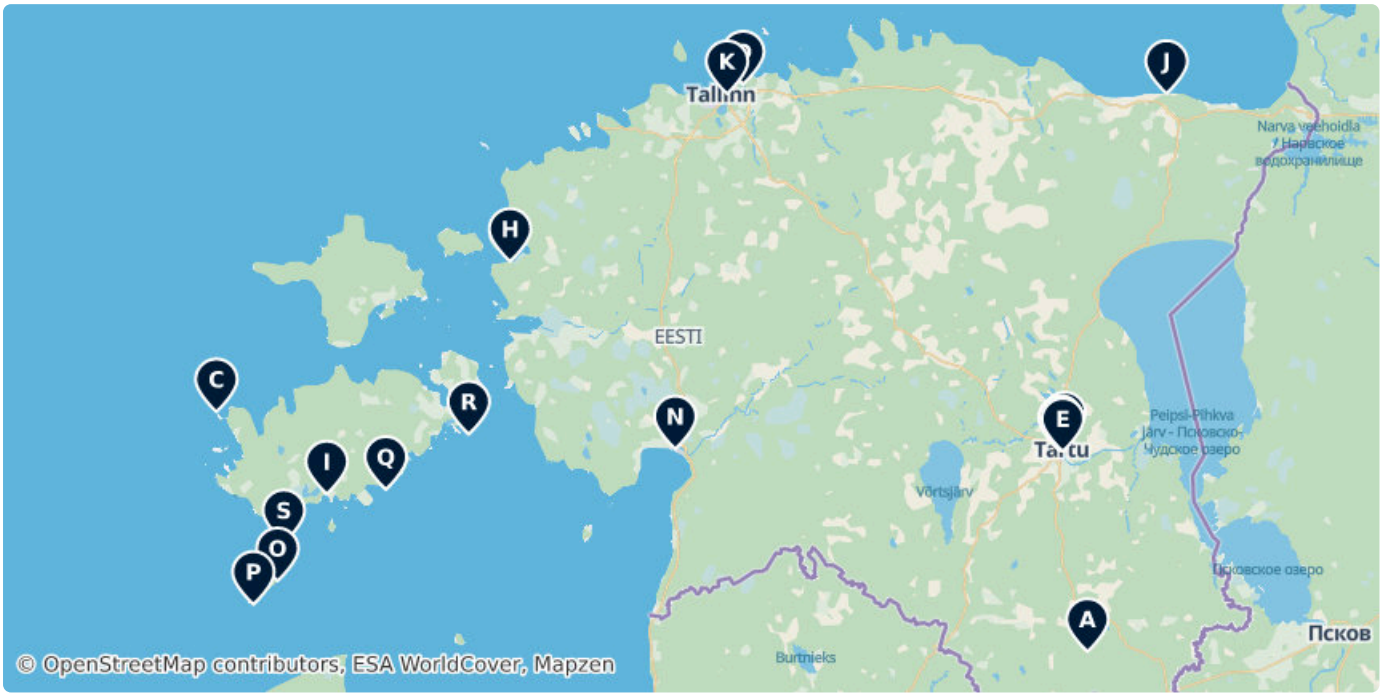
Where to explore

Tallinn is the capital, with a UNESCO-listed medieval Old Town, a growing tech and startup scene, and easy ferry access to Helsinki. Tartu, in the south, is Estonia's second city and university town, with a historic center and a strong student atmosphere.

Pärnu, on the west coast, is Estonia's main seaside resort town, popular in summer for its beach and spa hotels. Kuressaare, on the island of Saaremaa, is known for its well-preserved medieval castle, and Haapsalu, on the west coast, is known for its own castle ruins and a long-standing reputation as a mud-spa health resort town.

Estonia's Absolute Essentials

Estonia's Absolute Essentials features a range of historic and natural landmarks across the country. Key sites include the medieval Haapsalu and Kuressaare castles, the modern Estonian National Museum in Tartu, and the 314-meter Tallinn TV Tower. The selection also highlights the unique white sandstone walls of Hinni Canyon and several significant maritime structures, such as the leaning Kiipsaare Lighthouse and the 52-meter Sõrve Lighthouse on Saaremaa island.



A Hinni kanjon

The only canyon in Estonia where Devonian sandstone outcrops on both sides of a stream. This steep-walled valley is approximately 15-20 meters deep and features unique white sandstone cliffs.
