TRAVEL GUIDE

Overview

Weimar is a small city in Thuringia with a big place in German culture. Goethe and Schiller lived and worked here, and so did Bach and Liszt. UNESCO lists both the Classical Weimar sites and the Bauhaus heritage.

The old town is compact and easy to explore on foot. Weimar suits a stay of two or three days that mixes writers' houses, museums and parks. It also has one of Germany's most important memorials, at Buchenwald. Erfurt and Jena make easy day trips.

When to visit

June to September is the best time. Days are long and warm, and the parks are at their best. Rain is common in every season, so pack a light jacket. Spring and early autumn are quieter. Winters are cold and grey, with short days.

The Zwiebelmarkt is a three-day onion market and street festival in October. The Christmas market in Advent is the other busy period.

Top sights

- A Goethe-National-Museum/Goethes Wohnhaus is the house on Frauenplan where Goethe lived for most of his time in Weimar. You see his study, his collections and the garden.
- B Schillers Wohnhaus is where Friedrich Schiller lived in his last years. He wrote some of his best-known plays here.
- C Herzogin-Anna-Amalia-Bibliothek is famous for its Rococo Hall. A fire damaged the library in 2004, and the hall was later restored.
- D Stadtschloss was the home of the ruling dukes. It now holds art collections and historic rooms.
- The Bauhaus Museum Weimar on Theaterplatz tells the story of the school's first years. E Haus am Horn is a Bauhaus model house near the park.
- The Park an der Ilm is the city's main green space. F Goethes Gartenhaus stands in the park and was an early home of Goethe.
- G Stadtkirche St. Peter und Paul is the main church of the old town. It has an altarpiece by Lucas Cranach and the grave of the writer Johann Gottfried Herder.
- H Gedenkstätte Buchenwald is a memorial and museum on the former Nazi concentration camp site on the Ettersberg hill. It is about 8 km from the centre and needs at least half a day.

What to experience

- Walk the Park an der Ilm on a summer evening. Locals picnic and read on the lawns.
- Book an evening at the Deutsches Nationaltheater. It still stages plays, opera and concerts.
- Visit the Christmas market on the Markt in Advent.

Day trips

Weimar is in the middle of Thuringia, so many good towns are close by.

- Palaces near the city: Schloss Tiefurt is about 4 km from the centre and Schloss Ettersburg is about 7 km away. Both were summer residences of the ducal court.
- A Erfurt is under 30 minutes by regional train. It has a medieval old town, a cathedral hill and the Krämerbrücke, a bridge lined with houses.
- Jena is about 30 minutes by train. It is a university town with a strong science tradition.
- B Eisenach is about 1 hour by train. Above the town stands the Wartburg, a UNESCO castle where Martin Luther translated the New Testament.
- Naumburg is about 1 hour by train. It is known for its medieval cathedral and its famous statues.
- C Leipzig is about 1 to 1.5 hours by train. It is a large city with a rich music history and many museums.

Where to explore

Other destinations in Thuringia:

- Erfurt is the state capital, close to Weimar.
- Thuringian Forest is the area for hiking in the hills.
- Saalfeld is a small town in the south-east of the state.
- Suhl is a town on the edge of the Thuringian Forest.

Getting there

- By air: Leipzig/Halle (LEJ) is a practical airport with international flights. Berlin (BER) and Frankfurt (FRA) also work. From all of them, take a train. Most routes go via Erfurt or Leipzig.
- By train: Regional trains connect Weimar with Erfurt, Jena and Leipzig. Book on Deutsche Bahn.
- By road: The A4 motorway runs close to the city.

Getting around

- On foot: Most sights in the old town are within a 10 to 15 minute walk of each other. Streets are cobbled in many places, so wear comfortable shoes.
- City buses: All lines meet at Goetheplatz. Several lines run from there to the main station. Tickets are sold at ticket points in the centre and at the main station. The Weimar Card includes free rides on city buses. See City bus information.
- Cycling: Cycling is practical for trips outside the centre, such as along the Ilm valley.

Getting around on foot & by bike

WALKABILITY

High

The old town is compact and most sights are within walking distance.

CYCLING INFRASTRUCTURE

Moderate

Cycling works well for trips out of the centre, but old streets are cobbled.

Driving

- Is a car worth it?: Not for the city. The old town is small and mostly pedestrian. A car helps only for countryside trips.
- Parking: Use a car park at the edge of the old town and walk in.

Food & drink

Look for Thuringian bratwurst and Thuringian dumplings, called Klöße.

Cafés and restaurants cluster around the Markt, Frauenplan and Schillerstraße. Choose a place with a menu of regional dishes.

What to eat & drink

LUNCH

Doner Kebab · Döner Kebab
A sandwich of roasted meat, salad, and sauce in flatbread, invented by Turkish immigrants in Berlin and now a national staple.

DINNER

Schnitzel
A thin, breaded and fried cutlet, usually pork, served with potatoes or fries and a lemon wedge.

Sauerbraten
A pot roast marinated for days in vinegar and spices before slow cooking, served with red cabbage and dumplings.

SNACKS & STREET FOOD

Bratwurst
A grilled or fried pork sausage, often served in a bread roll with mustard, sold at stands nationwide.

Currywurst
Sliced sausage topped with curry-spiced ketchup, a Berlin invention now popular across the country.

Pretzel · Brezel
A large, chewy salted bread pretzel, especially common in Bavaria, often eaten with butter or cheese.

SWEETS & DESSERTS

Black Forest Cake · Schwarzwälder Kirschtorte
A layered chocolate sponge cake with cherries, cherry liqueur, and whipped cream.

DRINKS

Beer · Bier
Germany brews hundreds of regional styles, from Bavarian Weissbier to Cologne's Kölsch, each tied to its home city.

Gluhwein · Glühwein
Mulled, spiced red wine served hot, a staple of winter and Christmas markets.

Apfelschorle
Apple juice mixed with sparkling water, the everyday non-alcoholic drink of choice.

Safety & health

Weimar is a safe city for visitors. Keep an eye on your bags in crowds at festivals and on busy trains.

Cobbled streets are uneven. Comfortable shoes help.

History

Weimar became a centre of German literature in the late 1700s. Goethe came here in 1775 at the invitation of the duke. Schiller, Herder and Wieland followed. The statue of Goethe and Schiller in front of the theatre, Goethe-Schiller-Denkmal, is a symbol of this period.

In 1919 the German National Assembly met in the Deutsches Nationaltheater and wrote a new constitution. The period that followed is called the Weimar Republic. In the same year, Walter Gropius founded the Bauhaus school. Bauhaus-Universität Weimar still works in buildings of the original school. The Bauhaus later moved to Dessau.

The Nazis built Buchenwald concentration camp on the Ettersberg hill in 1937. Today the memorial is a place for learning and remembrance.

Historic Churches of Weimar

Weimar’s religious landscape spans centuries of architectural history, from the UNESCO-listed Gothic Herderkirche, home to the Cranach Altar, to the 19th-century Russian Orthodox Chapel built for Grand Duchess Maria Pavlovna. The collection includes the neo-Gothic Herz-Jesu-Kirche and the mid-20th-century modernism of Sankt Stephanus. Surrounding village churches in Tiefurt, Denstedt, and Süßenborn showcase traditional Thuringian styles and historic pipe organs, reflecting the region's deep Lutheran and Catholic heritage.
